W. Shakespeare

Sonnet XII

When I doe count the clock that tels the time,
And see the braue day sunck in hidious night,
 When I behold the violet past prime,
And sable curls or siluer'd ore with white:
 When lofty trees I see barren of leaues,
Which erst from heat did canopie the herd
And Sommers greene all girded vp in sheaues
Borne on the beare with white and bristly beard:
 Then of thy beauty do I question make
That thou among the wastes of time must goe,
Since sweets and beauties do them-selues forsake,
 And die as fast as they see others grow,

And nothing gainst Times sieth can make defence
Saue breed to braue him, when he takes thee hence.
